ABOUT

ANDRÉS ARCENTALES

Andrés Arcenales is an Ecuadorian songwriter, session vocalist and music producer with 18 years of experience across live performance, studio work, songwriting and audio production. A graduate of Universidad de Cuenca, his university years included the Polyphonic Choir, lead vocalist roles in the Rock Ensemble and Folk Ensemble, as well as work with local bands Red Machine, Eklipe and Souls on Fire. Between 2016 and 2020, he was especially active in live performance and also completed pre-professional teaching placements in piano and guitar at local foundations.

Since 2021, Andrés has built a freelance career through Fiverr, SoundBetter, AirGigs and Upwork, working primarily as a songwriter, topliner and session vocalist. His vocal approach spans clean and raspy singing through screams and growls, allowing him to work across everything from acoustic music to death metal. He also provides vocal production, editing, mixing and mastering. In 2021, he won a mixing and mastering contest organized by Clave Digital.
